

The Command API

The Command API will be structured similarly to the GHIN API. There will be a user id and a password for a user that exists in the users table.

There will be specific API permissions that can be given to a group that the user is in to access the API at all.

Also, each module can have its own module permissions for API related tasks. For example, the donor module may give rights to get a donation list to the MGA website API login, but not a club API login.

There will be system API calls and there will be module API calls.

All returns will be wrapped in <result></result>

Post Submitted for all API Calls:

Parameter	Type	Description
username	String
password	String
module	String	Module name or blank. Blank assumes system api call.
operation	String	The specific API function being called.
Other API specific parameters

Example:

http://dev-command.cynergynetworks.com/command/?page=api&un=xxxx&pw=yyyy&operation=getclub&club_number=83

Parameters are not case sensitive.

System Calls

Test Login

Operation: testlogin

The testlogin only tests the Command API login process, not a user login.

Parameter	Type	Description
No parameters

Returns

Variable	Value	Description
Success	True/False	If login credentials successful or not

An example would be:

```
<result><success>true</ success ></result>
```

Or

```
<result><success> false </ success ></result>
```

Get System Variable

Operation: getsystemvariable

Parameter	Type	Description
variable_name
default_value

Returns

Variable	Value	Description
Variable value or error

An example would be:

750

Or

Error. No Variable name specified.

<result>
<success>
true </success>
<message>
</message>
<club_name>
Winged Foot Golf Club
</club_name>
<cltid>
1
</cltid>
<club_type_name>
Regular
</club_type_name>
```

Get Club Type Table

Operation: getclubtypetable

Parameter	Type	Description
No parameters

Returns

Variable	Value	Description
Success	True/False
Message	String	Message for failure of operation
See below

Note club_type_type of 0 is for clubs, 1 is for facilities.

```
<result>
<success>true</success>
<message/>
<club_types>
<club_type>
<cltid>1</cltid>
<club_type_name>Regular</club_type_name>
<club_type_type>0</club_type_type>
</club_type>
<club_type>
<cltid>2</cltid>
<club_type_name>Associate</club_type_name>
<club_type_type>0</club_type_type>
</club_type>
<club_type>
</club_types>
</result>
```

</result>
```

The process:

Index.php looks for a page of 'api.'

Index.php creates an instance of api_pl_class and calls api();

Api_pl_class api() function pulls un and pw from $_REQUEST and attempts to login. If login is successful, it assigns $_REQUEST['api_callback_url'] from the user record. There should be a specific user id for a specific website. Api() then call process_api and passes in the $_REQUEST array as a parameter.

Process_api() takes the $_REQUEST array parameter as $req and assigns all the array elements to variables.

Process_api() looks for a parameter of 'module.' If none exists it calls directly the appropriate system api function. If one exists, it creates an instance of the api_class for that module and calls the process_api() function for that module.

The result eventually gets passed back to api() which checks the result to see if it is xml. If the first character is '<' the result is assumed to be xml at which point it wraps the result in <result></result> tags and sends a header of xml. Otherwise, it is most likely json and api just returns the result.
